East Cambodia: Nature and Elephants

Roundtrip with elephant- and dolphin spotting

About this tour

From Phnom Penh you travel to the east of Cambodia, an area where not many tourists come. First you go looking in the jungle for the elephants the Elephant Valley Project in Mondulkiri. Then you travel to the north, to Kratie. Here you can, with a little luck, spot the Irawaddy dolphins. Finally you travel to Stung Treng. From here you make a trip to the Mekong Falls on the border with Laos.

What will you do

- Trekking in Mondulkiri, Elephant Valley Project
- Meet the Bunong population
- Visit to the Busra Waterfall
- Cycling on the island of Koh Trong
- Dolphin spotting in Kampi
- Visit to the Mekong Falls
- Transfers by car with driver

Where

If you want to see and do more in Cambodia than just the temples of Angkor, then east and northeast of the capital Phnom Penh there are beautiful places with nature. During this trip you will look for elephants in the area of Mondulkiri. Then you travel to Kratie, a place on the Mekong River where with a little luck you can spot dolphins. North of Kratie, right on the border with Laos, is a beautiful area with waterfalls and a sunken forest.

Fun fact:

The Cambodian flag is the only one in the world with a building on it. Of course, this building is Angkor Wat.

Travel Tips:

Of course, most travellers visit the temples of Angkor during a visit to Cambodia. But besides Angkor, the relaxed cities of Kampot and Battambang are definitely worth a visit. Get on your bike there and discover the countryside.
